Dear Friends:

I am pleased to welcome visitors from around the globe attending the 2022 New York International Auto Show at the renowned and newly reimagined Javits Center.

Since 1900, car enthusiasts have been drawn to the Auto Show for a first-hand look at advancements in automotive engineering and design. This year, the public can do more than just look – with a wider range of electric vehicles than ever, they can see what the future holds. People can also experience the latest in cutting-edge technology and sustainable personal transportation through a drive on the amazing indoor test track.

The recent renovation of the Javits Center makes this year's exhibition the biggest in Auto Show history. The expanded space is filled with international debuts and high-concept models, each proving that the automotive industry is progressing at an unstoppable rate. These important advancements in technology, engineering, and vehicle design demonstrate how to improve the way we drive.

I thank the Greater New York Automobile Dealers Association and its 400-plus members who contribute to life in the metropolitan region on the return of the oldest auto show in the United States. We are delighted to know that key industry professionals and enthusiasts from around the world are back in New York for this exciting event.

Best wishes for a successful International Auto Show.

Sincerely,

Dear Friends:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome everyone to the 120th New York International Auto Show hosted by the Greater New York Automobile Dealers Association (GNYADA).

New York is immensely proud of its reputation as a hub of industry, innovation, and technological advancement. My Administration is committed to channeling our city's endless reserves of creative excellence and engineering expertise into projects that enhance the quality of life for people across the five boroughs. Held annually since 1900, the New York International Auto Show, the oldest and largest-attended in North America, is a fantastic opportunity to promote and showcase the ingenuity — from the earliest horseless carriages and 1970s hatchbacks, to today's powerful plug-in hybrids — that has always driven our city's progress. As you return to the newly renovated Javits Center for the first auto show since 2019, featuring the latest in modern automotive concept designs, futuristic sports cars, and zero emissions vehicles, I am proud to applaud GNYADA for arriving at this milestone in the show's history, and for once again presenting this impressive event that brings together New Yorkers and visitors from all walks of life and elevates our city's economic and technological vibrancy. I look forward to the many ways that GNYADA will continue to build a better and brighter future for all.

On behalf of the City of New York, I extend my best wishes for an exciting, memorable auto show and continued success.

Sincerely,

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

I am honored to welcome you to the 2022 New York International Auto Show at the newly renovated Javits Center. The recent expansion of the Javits Center makes this year's exhibition the largest Auto Show in history.

Fellow New Yorkers and people from around the world have traveled to the Auto Show since 1900 to see firsthand emerging technology and developments in the automotive industry. The Auto Show is a unique experience where you can see the engineering and design concepts of the future, today. Importantly, more electric vehicles will be showcased than ever before, so attendees can see the newest in sustainable and climate-friendly personal transportation.

I applaud the Greater New York Automobile Dealers Association and all of its members for the hard work you put in to helping bring back the oldest and most world-renowned Auto Show. Your association and its members have a positive impact in communities across Metro New York. I also thank you for your partnership in the Excelsior Automotive Technician Task Force which is helping to develop quality career opportunities for many New Yorkers.

On behalf of the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles, I wish you an enjoyable and successful Auto Show.

Sincerely,
